Notes for the grown up – PLEASE READ

Thank you for taking the time to look through the Zip Pack.

Of course, you know the level that your child can work at and their attention levels.

Below is merely a guide, as explained in the introduction message on Facebook, this is not official educational literature just a bit of fun and hopefully material you and your little one(s) enjoy.

We hereby do not give any guarantees that completing this Zip Pack will lead to a career in nuclear physics or becoming a leading brain surgeon – but we hope it helps! Here we go.....

3y-4.5y - a great interaction opportunity to discuss the short piece of writing on Page 2.

4.5y-6y – a great chance to grab a cup of tea and biscuit while they go through and answer the questions on their own!

Maybe the first crossword your child has tried to complete, I know I used to enjoy them as a child. Today there is no extra mission for your child to complete. However, once your child has completed... and play fair and let them do it for themselves.... It's your turn to step up and work out the anagram. Remember when this is all over the parent with the most answers back first wins their own prize. From the response yesterday I know we have a couple of keen players. So, your challenge. Once complete... work out the following and then re-arrange... and then message the Zip page directly with your answer.

The last of seven down, the fourth of three down, the second of four across, the first of 2 down, the second of eight across, the third of 6 across.

Friday 27th March 6pm will be the draw for the book 'give away'. I will place a post on our Facebook page, search @zipandfriends. The post will be titled 'Friday Draw Off' and pinned to the top of the page so you can find it easily. One winner per night.

Obviously given the current environment delivery will have to be discussed etc.

Good luck!
